Wemhoff Consulting / Business Support by Design LLC

Human Resource Strategist

After 25 years of owning a staffing business, I realized the challenge of wearing multiple hats, dealing with multiple types of employees, and navigating an ever-changing market.

Most importantly, I know that having a clear overall picture of each business's destination is imperative in today's uncertain times; which is why I created a program that helps business leaders have a culture so good, no one wants to leave.

After working with a multitude of different businesses, infusing culture and engagement into their processes and procedures, it is confirmation that overall wellness pays off in dividends, for both their employees and their bottom lines.

In 2019, I founded Wemhoff Consulting, a comprehensive human resources consultancy, focused on company culture and employee experience; leading with the promise to support both clients and employees in creating optimum workplaces.

I hold a Master's Degree in Education, as well as being the recipient of the 2005 Athena Award for Business Woman of the Year.
