Spent 20 years in military as Engineer living and working all over the world places like Alaska, Germany, East Coast US, and worked off and on in Central America helping with power grid after disasters . In my last few years in military spent that time training in Leadership, Mechanical and Electrical systems engineering. Moved to West Virginia to over see all the surface and some underground project at Greenbrier Smokeless mining. Now I do training full time because I love adding value to other more than anything else and God has put me in a place at a time that is helping others and I hope his kingdom.
